

Maine Working Together WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT SYSTEM

In-Person Training: Fading Supports in the Workplace

Successfully fading and maximizing the use of natural supports helps individuals with disabilities succeed in employment. In this in-person training, we will cover:

- Why are fading and natural supports important for people with disabilities?
- What programs support fading and natural supports?
- How can I identify and use natural supports at the jobsite?
- When and how do I implement systematic instruction and task analysis?
- How can I build the independence and confidence of the individual in the workplace?

Location: This training is in-person at the University of Maine at Augusta. We will send you registration confirmation and directions via email.

Date: Tuesday December 13, 2022

Time: Check in starts at 8:30am. Training is from 9am-4pm

Cost to attend the training: $75

Visit our website to register for this training and request accommodations.

Registration Deadline: You must register by December 7, 2022. Space is limited!

Accommodation Requests: We must receive your accommodation requests by November 30, 2022.

Fading Supports in the Workplace counts as Part 2 of the Earning the Job Coach Credential training program. The Earning the Job Coach Credential training program consists of two parts:

- 1. Part 1: Complete 18 modules of online training from the College of Employment Services (CES)
- 2. Part 2: Attend the Fading Supports in the Workplace in-person training

You must complete all 18 modules in Part 1 before attending the in-person training (Part 2). All modules are on demand and available 24/7.

You can register and enroll for these modules at any time.

For more information contact: Lara Enein by email at lara.enein@umb.edu

Funded by the Maine Department of Education, Maine Department of Labor, and Maine Department of Health and Human Services, in partnership with the Institute for Community Inclusion at UMass Boston.

www.MaineWorkingTogether.org